

Russians Seek German Support By Dropping Reparations

Seven Major Economic Aids Offered

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet Union has granted Communist East Germany seven major economic and political concessions, including an end to reparations after Jan. 1, release of certain German war prisoners and substantial aid to the Soviet zone's economy.

These were announced yesterday at the end of 48 hours of discussions here between top Soviet leaders, including Premier Georgi Malenkov, and an East German delegation led by Premier Otto Grotewohl.

The text of a joint communique, signed by Malenkov and Grotewohl, was carried in Pravda, Izvestia and other Moscow newspapers.

Western observers viewed the new Moscow-East Berlin policy, disclosed just two weeks before West Germany holds a general election, as aimed at building up East German regime to equal footing with other Communist governments with which Russia has close relations.

The major concessions disclosed in the communique are:

1. Relations between East Germany and Russia will be placed on a friendly basis, including raising the diplomatic representation in their respective capitals to embassies.
2. Enterprises run by Soviet authorities in East Germany will be returned to the East German economy.
3. Reduction of East Germany's share in Soviet occupation costs to the point at which it will not exceed 5 per cent of total East German revenues.
4. Russian agreement to take certain measures to release "German prisoners of war sentenced for crimes committed during the war."
5. Release of East Germany from paying to Russia debts incurred for external occupation costs since 1945 and also from paying back to the Soviet Union debts incurred during the postwar years.
6. East German reparations payments to Russia will stop after next Jan. 1.
7. Russia will ship food, coal, steel and other metals, cotton and other goods valued at 590 million rubles (147½ million dollars at the Russian-fixed value of the ruble.)

Soviet credits of 485 million rubles (121¼ million dollars) also will be extended to East Germany.

Building Is At New High

Washington, AP—The Federal Reserve Board said yesterday spending for construction hit new record levels this year and real estate sales remain high, but homes in some areas are now selling more slowly and at reduced prices.

Overall demand for housing is still increasing, the Reserve Board said in a study of real estate developments, although at a slackened pace.

Rents have increased as federal controls were removed, the board noted.

The study indicated that real estate values reached a peak in 1951 and have remained fairly stable since.

The Reserve Board's survey of home building and selling added up to a picture of a still strong and active market, but one where production has now overtaken supply, giving the buyer a stronger bargaining position. Increasing rents, together with easier mortgage conditions, may make buyers out of today's renters.

The board said evidence so far would not indicate that the recent rise permitted in veterans and other government-insured housing mortgage interest rates has brought much more mortgage money into this market.

Freed Prisoner To Receive Medal Of Honor

San Francisco (AP)—A slim, fair-haired Marine lieutenant came home from Korea yesterday and learned officially for the first time that he has an appointment with President Eisenhower to receive the nation's highest award, the Medal of Honor.

Lt. George H. O'Brien Jr., 26, of Big Spring, Texas, arrived aboard the transport Gen. Nelson M. Walker, on which he was in charge of eight of the liberated 326 prisoners of war in the first shipload to come home.

He was met at the dock by a delegation of officers headed by Col. Arthur T. Mason, chief of staff of the Marine Corps Department of the Pacific, who told him he had been awarded the Medal of Honor.

O'Brien was not too surprised because he had heard "scuttlebutt" on the ship. He said he was "pleased and proud," but said "I don't think I deserve it. The boys in my platoon did all the work."

U.S. Churches Are Adding New Members At Fastest Rate In Their History

New York, AP—Churches in the United States have been adding new members at the fastest rate in their history, the National Council of Church said yesterday.

Statistics gathered by the council show total church membership has soared to an all-time high of 92,277,129, a gain of 3,601,124 during 1952. This represents a 4.1 per cent increase for the year. That's 2½ times as fast as the overall population growth during the period, and twice as big a gain as in the previous year.

The gain brought church membership to 59 per cent of the total U. S. population. In 1940, only 49 per cent of the people belonged to churches.

The figures were gathered from 251 religious bodies.

Protestant and Roman Catholic percentage gains were about the same during 1952, as they have been in recent past years. Protestants increased 3.9 per cent; Roman Catholic 3.5 per cent. The number of local churches increased from 284,592 to 285,277. Clergymen increased from 181,123 to 183,899.

Sunday School enrollment showed a record 6-4 per cent gain of nearly 2 million, bringing the total to 32,638,879.

Present membership totals for the nation's top six religious bodies are:

Protestant, 54,229,963; Roman Catholic, 30,253,427; Jewish, 5,000,000; Orthodox, 2,353,783; Old Catholic and Polish National Catholic, 366,956; Buddhist, 73,000.

The Methodist Church, with 9,180,428 members, remains the largest single protestant body.

He said he was amazed to hear statements in "high places" inferring that such espionage helped the Russians get the A-bomb and H-bomb sooner.

"It is just not true," he said. On the other hand, he asserted, secrecy has given the American people "bootleg information," and prevented the nation from preparing to defend itself.

Referring to the possibility that an atomic bomb could be planted in the basement of city hall, Lapp said nobody would know what it was because the public has been denied any knowledge of the size and appearance of the bomb.

Lapp, former executive director of the Atomic Energy Commission's Research and Development Board, said it was not the scientists or the AEC who are responsible for the secrecy. He was asked who he thought was responsible.

"The Pentagon," he said, "and some people on Capitol Hill." Lapp did not elaborate.

'Pentagon' Blamed For A-Fiction

Washington, AP—Atomic scientist Dr. Ralph Lapp attacked atomic secrecy yesterday as a "fiction" that has hurt, not helped, our national defense. He called on President Eisenhower to speak out about it.

Lapp said on a television program, CBS "Man of the Week," that he did not believe theft of atomic secrets by such spies as Klaus Fuchs and Julius and Ethel Rosenberg did anything to speed up the Russian atomic energy development.

Coaxed From 14th Floor

New York, AP—A Navy veteran was coaxed from a 14th floor ledge of a Brooklyn hospital early yesterday after 13 hours of pleading and attempts to snatch him from his precarious perch.

Sidney Herman, 23, a Queens salesman, climbed onto the narrow strip at noon yesterday and sobbed to would-be rescuers:

"Everyone's against me, even my family. I'm going to jump."

The crowd of onlookers, shouting all kinds of advice, included his mother and brother. He was at Fort Hamilton Veterans Hospital for treatment of a stomach ulcer and anxiety neurosis.

Nets were dropped from the floor above in attempts to snare Herman. He flattened himself against the wall and eluded them. Shortly before midnight, powerful searchlights were beamed at him. Then two firemen swung toward him trapeze-fashion on ropes dangling from the floor above. They raised the man.

Reds Fail To Make Headway With Negro In Many Tries

by George Schuyler

(Mr. Schuyler, often called America's leading Negro journalist, has written several books.)

The hailing, before a Senate Internal Security subcommittee, of two prominent pro-Communist Negroes—following the conviction of a few colored Communists among the first and second string group of Red leaders—has revived an old speculation.

Why has the Bolshevik conspiracy made so little headway among Negroes after thirty-odd years of trying?

Many published studies have attested to this spectacular failure, at there have been few attempts to explain the cause of it. The feeling has frequently been expressed that with all the grievances Negroes have, they should have readily succumbed to the Kremlin's blandishments. The onerous color caste system, social ostracism, racial discrimination, widespread segregation, exclusion even from cemeteries, and distressingly frequent insult and violence, are regarded by some as sufficient justification for more Negroes joining the Reds.

Certainly the Communists have exaggerated all of these ills and sought to capitalize on them. They succeeded, however, in enlisting only a negligible number of colored recruits, and the desertions of the disillusioned have always been a Party headache.

Each "front" organization set up to enchain the darker brother has been a dismal flop. From the

50 Americans Are Released In Last Group

Panmunjom, Monday (AP)—Cruelty suffered at the hands of North Korean Reds exceeded even the horrors experienced in the POW camps of the Chinese Communists, newly freed men reported as another 150 Americans were listed for return yesterday.

The Reds also were to turn over 250 South Koreans for the day's total of 400 repatriates.

More than half the Allied prisoners captured by North Koreans during the early months of the war died on death marches or in Red Korean prison camps from lack of food and care, some of the 150 Americans who returned to freedom Sunday related.

The stories contrasted with those told by the Chinese late in the conflict. The prisoners captured in the last few months told of passable camps, food and medical treatment.

The massive exchange of prisoners under the Korean armistice neared the end of its third week today with the number of Americans liberated inching toward the 2,000 mark.

The first delivery of 50 Americans of the 150 listed for freedom today began promptly at 9 a. m., 7 p. m. EST, Sunday. The Americans were quiet, almost reserved, but they appeared in good health.

Completion of today's exchange, brings to 1,859 the U. S. prisoners freed in 20 days of Operation Big Switch. The Reds said, before the exchange began, they held 3,513 Americans.

Also returning today were 250 South Koreans. The United Nations Command was sending northward 2,402 Reds to bring to 44,629 the number of Communists liberated.

As usual, today's Korean Communist repatriates arrived shouting and singing lustily.

AFL Orders Cut From Carpenters

Washington, AP—Orders went out from AFL headquarters yesterday for all local affiliated groups to cut ties with the Carpenters Union, which nearly two weeks ago quit the AFL in protest against a "no raiding" pact with the CIO.

The instructions were issued by AFL President George Meany and Secretary-Treasurer William S. Schnitzer to state federations, to city central labor councils and to the AFL's building and construction trades department.

Meany and Schnitzer stressed that their action was dictated by the AFL constitution.

However, the door was left ajar for the 820,000-man United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners to return to the fold. Some AFL officials said privately they expect this to happen before too long.

In the meantime, the officials said they anticipate that the other building trades still in the AFL will continue to cooperate informally with the carpenters.

President Walks To Church

Denver, AP—President Eisenhower attended early church services yesterday accompanied by a friend from Washington.

The President and Floyd Akers, an automobile dealer, walked the 2½ blocks from the home of Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. John Doud, to 8:30 a. m. services at the Corona Presbyterian Church.

Akers has been in Denver several days, golfing and trout fishing with the President.

More Than 300 Jubilant American Fighters Return From Red's Grim Prison Compounds

San Francisco, AP—More than 300 of America's fighting sons came back yesterday from the Red's grim prison camps in Korea, sailing through fog-shrouded Golden Gate to a tumultuous welcome from the homeland many of them once wondered if they would ever see again.

The Navy transport Gen. Nelson M. Walker brought the first shipload—326 into the embracing arms of San Francisco Bay shortly after 7 a.m. Pacific Daylight Time.

Anxious relatives from 25 states crowded a special section of the pier for reunion with warrior kin they had not seen in as much as three years.

A band blared "California Here I Come," and those on ship and shore waved wildly as the big transport edged up to the pier. Fire boats threw up geysers of water. At the dock a huge sign read, "Welcome Home."

Many in the group of 63 families who came to the dock for the earliest possible reunion with their loved ones held up identifying signs.

One simply read "Pinky."

The Walker also brought home 1,910 men of the 1st Marine Division, but they willingly took a back seat in the roaring welcome for the former prisoners.

The transport docked at 9:14 a.m. (PDT), and the released prisoners were the first to walk off.

Those met by their families were allowed to arrange for immediate trips home. Those without families at the pier arranged for individual transportation to military camps nearest their homes. Once there, they may check in and then start their 30-day leaves.

The weather co-operated in the homecoming, the sun breaking up the fog in favor of blue skies overhead at the repatriates' stream down the gangplank.

For them, Presidio Army cooks prepared thick steaks and apple pie for their first meal ashore.

All prisoners appeared in fine shape and gay spirits.

In contrast with the gala welcome for them, three wounded former prisoners arrived by military transport at Travis Air Force Base.

The only one greeting them were medical corpsmen who took them to the base hospital.

One was a litter case, Sgt. Wayne C. Cunningham, of Wampum, Pa. Walking off the plane were Pfc. William T. Jackson of West Monroe, La., and Cpl. Junior Rose of Morgantown, W. Va.

But at the dock where the Walker disgorged its passengers there were fervor, emotion and confusion.

As many as 30 reunions went on at the same time.

Men not greeted by families went to the Presidio Service Club for a big dinner.

The mess hall at nearby Ft. Mason served meals to the reunited groups—both the men and their families.

Television cameras, recording the scene for nationwide audiences caught Capt. James R. Curry of Rockford, Ill., as he was swept into the arms of his wife and two little sons.

Neither 7-year-old Pat nor 5-year-old David had seen him since June 1950, the month the Korean War started.

David didn't even know his dad and hung back momentarily until his brother made it clear that this really was father.

Capt. Curry said that AP Photographer Frank "Pappy" Noel, recently freed by the Reds, spent part of the time at that Camp 2, "and he really helped keep up our morale."

Two Editors Disagree On Press Freedom Issue

Washington, AP—James Kerney Jr., editor of the Trenton, N. J. Times, contended yesterday that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) has endangered freedom of the press in his fight with the Washington Post and James A. Werchler, editor of the New York Post.

But Benjamin M. McKelway, editor of the Washington Star, disagreed. He said he doesn't think McCarthy "is big enough" to endanger press freedom.

"Furthermore," McKelway said, "I don't think Sen. McCarthy wants to do anything to the press because the press is what has made him as big as he is."

Kerney said that "as soon as a politician or a public official infringes on those who criticize him in newspapers he is starting to trample on freedom of the press and he should be cut off right then and there before it goes any further."

McKelway and Kerney debated the issue on the NBC television program "American Forum of the Air." Kerney was joined by Ed Edstrom, correspondent for the Louisville Courier Journal, who insisted McCarthy had infringed press freedom and should not be allowed to do so again.

John O'Donnell, Washington columnist for the New York Daily News, said McCarthy had "absolutely not" endangered freedom of the press. To say that he has, he declared, "is absolutely foolish."

Revenue Department Plugs Big Loophole; Tax Is On All Personal Tangible Property

Harrisburg, AP—The State Revenue Department adopted a broad regulation that all sales of personal tangible property are "presumed to be at retail and to be taxable" under the new state sales tax.

The department said that the regulation closed what might have been a glaring loophole in collection of the one per cent levy, which goes into effect Sept. 1.

"The seller," reads the regulation issued Saturday, "may require any purchaser, who claims that a sale is not taxable to give him a written statement, signed by the purchaser and giving his address, certifying that the tangible personal property, the subject of the sale, is purchased for a purpose not included in the definition of 'sale at retail.'"

At the same time, the department would be able to check the name and address of the person who gave the blanket exemption certificate to the wholesaler, assuring that the articles he purchased were for resale at wholesale.

While the sales tax division is printing 50,000 booklets on sales regulations, the department expects that many questions as to borderline items will be unanswered when the levy goes into effect.

A staff of sales tax lawyers will do nothing next month but answer an expected flood of queries on various types of transactions.

The sales tax law, itself, exempts food, clothing, shoes and purchases of less than 10 cents. But the legislature gave the Revenue Department the job of defining specific articles under the tax.

Senators' Committee Files Report

Washington, AP—The Senate internal security subcommittee said yesterday "the Soviet international organization has carried on a successful and important penetration of the United States government and this penetration has not been fully exposed."

In a report signed by all eight members of the subcommittee, and based on a year's study of the question, the group outlined Communist infiltration into the government since the early 1930s.

After sketching in the highlights of testimony which has been given before congressional committees on Communists in government, the committee expressed the conclusion that:

"Policies and programs laid down by members of this Soviet conspiracy are still in effect within our government and constitute a continuing hazard to our national security."

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind.) in making public the committee report reiterated in a statement the idea that the penetration of Communists into the government still "has not been fully exposed."

The committee mentioned in its report that Elizabeth Bentley, former Communist, had testified in 1952 that there were four Soviet espionage rings operating "within our government and that only two of these have been exposed."

After tracing Communist infiltration of key government agencies and programs since the early 1930s the report said:

"There is a mass of evidence and information on the hidden Communist conspiracy in government which is still inaccessible to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and to this subcommittee because persons who know the facts of this conspiracy are not cooperating with the security authorities of the country."

Many of the names of more than 70 former government employees and most of the incidents in the 50-page report have been previously aired in congressional hearings on Communism.

The report takes these bits and pieces and fits them together in support of the committee conclusion that "the agents of this penetration have operated in accordance with a distinct design fashioned by their Soviet superiors."

One new disclosure is that the Senate investigating group had planned to ask testimony from former Sen. Robert M. La Follette Jr. (R-Wis.), who killed himself last Feb. 24.

However, La Follette himself was not a target. The subcommittee had planned to ask what he knew about Communist supporters who might have worked for congressional committees.

Jungle Law Is Charged In Reporting

Boston, AP—The "law of the jungle" applies in news reporting of court trials, the head of the New York County Lawyers' Association said yesterday.

Edwin M. Otterbourg, president of the association, presented a 12-point code on fair trial and free press, drafted by a special committee of that association to the National Conference of Bar Presidents. They are meeting in connection with the 75th meeting of the American Bar Association, which opened sessions yesterday.

"If these two great liberties—the right to a fair trial and the right to a free press—are perpetuated in conflict," Otterbourg said in a prepared address, "obviously the way soon will be opened for unfair trials on the one hand and for unbridled license on the other."

"When once this becomes inevitably apparent, an aroused public may turn to some man on horseback, who, to seize power, promises to enforce these rights. Whenever and wherever this has happened, both rights have soon completely disappeared and tyranny triumphed," he said.

Heat Loss Prevented By Process

A Ford water heater will outlive you and your entire family. Why? Because of an exclusive patented process of rocklining. That is the secret of Ford's ability to last and last and last. AND that's why Ford manufactures the very best heater of its type on the market.

Every Ford heater has a one-half inch rust resistant rocklining within its extra heavy gauge steel tank. Of all the methods and materials used through the years, rocklining is the ONLY one proved to have maximum effectiveness against corrosion and electrolysis, the greatest enemies to a water heater's life.

Ford is the first and original manufacturer of rocklined water heaters. One and one-half decades of experimenting have resulted in the perfect composition for effective rocklining a low lime and high silica content. Our research division has developed a special chemical treatment that transforms the calcium (lime) salts in the rock to a non-soluble material which seals the entire lining into an EFFECTIVE PROTECTIVE layer. That is why the lining will not disintegrate even at a constant temperature of 212 degrees.

Heat loss is prevented by the use of a 3" blanket of fiberglass which surrounds the entire inner tank. This blanket is moisture, vermin and fireproof and is encased in an attractive outer shell finished in a sleek baked enamel finish. All fittings are bronze or rocklined for durability.

Tank sizes range 32-66-82 and 120 gallon capacities with matched heating elements for each.

The long life of your Ford Rocklined Water Heater makes it the most inexpensive heater on the market. Ask Leslie W. Hay of Canadensis, Pa., about the Ford water heater to meet YOUR need! Showroom for Leslie W. Hay Electrical Sales and Service is located near Barrett High School building, in Canadensis. Stop in or phone today.

Oil Burner Will Relieve Discomforts

Has this happened to you during the past week?

You huddled shudderingly beneath the blankets, then finally submitted and crawled out of bed into a very chilly room. You were simply miserable ... and frankly envied your comfortable neighbor who had a little more foresight than you and had installed an automatic oil burner.

Ask yourself these questions: Why put up with such discomfort in this day and age? Why burden yourself with the problem of building a snelly wood fire every time the temperature takes an unexpected drop? Why put up with a temperamental, dirty coal furnace?

The D. Katz & Sons plumbing and heating department can quickly relieve you of all these headaches ... and in their place substitute assured comfort.

In a few hours Katz heating crews can install a completely automatic oil burner and the cost is as low as $2.35 weekly.

Call Bob Collins at 2369. He'll be glad to give you all the help you need to solve your particular heating problem.

Haynes Garage Checks Wheels

Haynes Motors says, "Don't take chances! Out-of-line or unbalanced wheels cause hard steering and 'road wander'—dangerous in emergencies. Unbalanced or misaligned wheels are expensive, too, because they grind rubber off your tires, cutting down mileage.

They can ruin steering and wheel assemblies. Go to Haynes Motors today and let their service department check your wheels with precision John Bean wheel alignment and balancing system. Savings in tire and chassis wear will more than pay for the job...

32nd West End Fair Opens At Gilbert Grounds Wednesday

Thousands Expected To Attend

Gilbert. Visitors by the thousands are expected to flock into the fairgrounds here Wednesday for the 32nd annual West End Fair.

The fairgrounds have grown since the first fair, held the year after World War One.

Wide tree-shaded grounds afford acres of room for the frame exhibit buildings, restaurant, administration building, and livestock buildings. Cars will jam the flat fields lying between Route 200 and the fair proper.

No new major buildings have been erected since completion of the swine building last year, but the existing structures have been maneuvered and put in trim by the grounds committee.

Adults will compete in all divisions including such things as apiculture, poultry, grain and potatoes, corn, garden produce, fruits, baked goods, canned goods, needle work of all kinds, flowers and potted plants.

There will also be strong competition among 4-H Club members and girls of high school home economics classes, who make entries in many of the same classes adults compete in.

Exhibits must be entered at the fairgrounds Tuesday afternoon and set up for display. Livestock, however, may be entered Wednesday morning.

Judging starts at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

Visitors will not only inspect the wares and home goods displayed in the classes, but will spend some time browsing through the exhibits of machinery and new tractors, the latest devices for easier farming.

Those tired of walking may fly—on the thrill-rides of the midway, down at the end of the fairgrounds.

Officers this year are: Lloyd Altomere, president; Lloyd Frailey, vice-president; Arlington Smith, secretary; LeRoy Hinton, assistant-secretary; Norman Anglin, treasurer.

There are 36 directors, six each from Chestnut Hill, Eldred, Hamilton, Ross, Polk and Jackson Townships.

Mrs. Kjar Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Mabel Kjar, 51, of Neola, died Saturday afternoon in General Hospital.

She was born in New York City but had lived in Monroe County the past 32 years. She was the daughter of Henry and Anna Voigt and a member of Hamilton Lutheran Church and Sunday School.

Surviving are a daughter, Viola, and a son, Fred, at home; her father; one brother, Alex Voigt, and a sister, Mrs. John MacDonald, Long Island, N. Y.; three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at Edgar Hamm funeral home, Brodheadville, Rev. John B. Bergstresser officiating. Interment in Kellersville Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9.

Must Repay Annexed Townships

Harrisburg, (AP)—Cities and boroughs annexing parts of second class townships will have to pay for recent improvements in the annexed area under a new law signed by Gov. John S. Fine.

The law provides that the annexing municipalities pay townships for the value of all roads improved in the annexed area within five years, the cost of sewer systems constructed within 15 years and the value of public buildings and improvements other than roads and sewers.

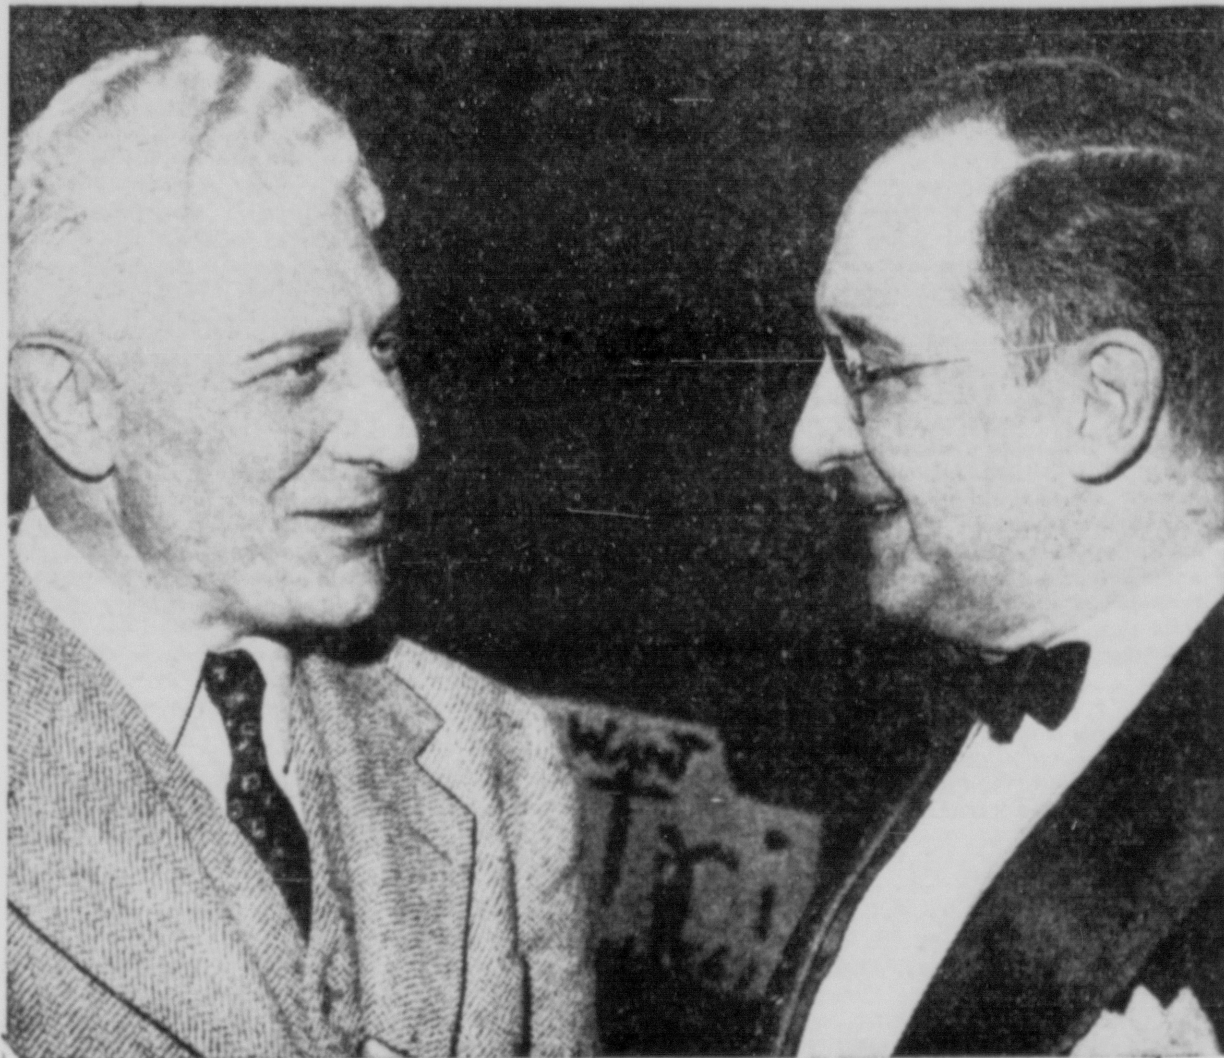

The township in no case would be reimbursed, however, for improvements financed by assessments against abutting property owners.

County courts would decide the amount to be paid the townships in the event of a dispute on values.

Smaller Turkey Crop

Washington, (AP)—This year's turkey crop is eight per cent smaller than last year's. The Agriculture Department reported yesterday that a survey indicates a total of 55,746,000 turkeys were being raised Aug. 1.

WEST END FAIRGOWERS this week at Gilbert will hear music from John W. Wernert's opera "The Cocoa Man." Albertus L. Meyers (right) shown above with Wernert, will direct the Allentown Band in "Cupid's Key; Nursery Rhymes; Dreamland; In Vaudeville; When Guests Arrive; Hot Chocolate; Lake Song; Ballet Josephine; The Postman and Comedian's Song". The fair will be Wednesday.

Reds Fail To Impress Negro People

by George Schuyler

African Blood Brotherhood of the early Twenties to the National Negro Congress which vanished in 1947 following a decade of futile effort, all have existed largely on paper. Frenzied efforts have been made through the years to attract more colored Party members by placing Negroes in administrative positions and nominating them for high political posts, but the black masses continued to stay away in droves.

To be sure these efforts attracted the expected fringe of gullible, scheming and ambitious wheelhorses and "intellectuals," even as among the whites; and these innocents and fellow-travelers working their way into powerful Negro organizations were sometimes able to affect programs and tactics; but only on the basis of legitimate grievances and immediate demands having nothing directly to do with Communism. The Negroes sagely shied away from internationalist, proletarian doctrines of class war to the fearful despair of the Red plotters.

This was not due to any passive attack by the sizeable Negro press, for only one of these newspapers has been consistently and outspokenly anti-Communist through the years. Indeed, several of their editorial writers and columnists have been fellow travelers, or worse. Nor did more than corporal's guard of the Negro preachers distinguish themselves by an anti-Red campaign. It was not unusual for many prominent people noted as spokesmen of the group to wittingly or unwittingly mouth current Communist verbiage. Why then did the Communists fail?

There are several reasons. In the first place, Bolshevism is an obvious foreign importation, and the Negro has been an American without any foreign connection whatever since the beginning of the colonial era. He does not yearn to abolish private property but to acquire it. His ambition is to join the capitalist class rather than to liquidate it. He does not care who owns the "socially necessary means of production, distribution and exchange" so long as he is privileged to use these facilities in equality with others.

He is not fascinated by collective farms because they are too painfully reminiscent of the slave plantations of hated memory. In ante-bellum days he fled from them via Underground Railroad, and after Emancipation he fought a quarter million strong to abolish them.

He is too busy striving to pay for his automobile, home and electric refrigerator to bother scheming to deprive others of the fruits of their thrift. To a group which owns over 200,000 thriving farms averaging 78 acres, the Red appeal to "divide the land among the peasants" is repugnant.

When Communists in the mid-Thirties sought to popularize the idea of a separate Negro state in the South, it was received with incredulous laughter and ridicule.

Moreover, American Negroes because of bitter experience have been traditionally suspicious of the kind of white people who offer Utopia. Many of these "saviors" look disturbingly like those seen in mobs, or those who insisted on laws that relegated the Negro to the status of half a man, or ousted him from jobs he once monopolized. He has always been leery of these glib, unscrupulous, unwashed "Greeks bearing gifts."

The Reds thought the lure of white women and the noisy espousal of interracial marriage would bring swarms of Negroes into their ranks. It didn't. True, a few here and there were snared, but normal Negroes found the bait unappealing, save for transient and clandestine enjoyment.

Interracial marriage is rarely discussed in colored America and seldom entered. The total of such couples in the nation does not exceed 25,000. The fact of the matter is that there is almost as much racial snobbery and exclusiveness in colored society as in the white group; but there is understandable resentment among Negroes that they should be told whom they must and must not marry.

At first the Communists made the mistake of attacking the Negro churches and clergymen. With three-fifths of the colored people identified with the church into which they have invested several hundred million dollars, such an attack was resented. The Negro church is his spiritual and social center everywhere. Finally realizing this, the Reds sought to cultivate the clergy, but with practically no success.

What Negroes want and what they have been contending for are simply the rights, privileges, duties and opportunities other Americans enjoy. These they have been getting at an accelerated pace and they have faith in the future. Against this solid rock of patriotism, Communism has dashed itself in vain.

Ice Cream Sodas

Bad news for the younger set—the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, exercising its sovereign power to tax, is going to levy a one-cent tax on ice cream sodas.

Ice cream itself won't be taxed because as a milk product it is considered food and food is exempt. That seems reasonable.

But why should ice cream cease to be food the minute you add fizz water and a little flavoring and serve it in a tall glass with a spoon and straw?

Ice cream is ice cream and therefore food—and good food—no matter how dispensed. In fact, we know of some young boys, and some old boys and old girls, too, who make a meal of an ice cream soda.

They won't like aying that tax on such a delightful and nourishing dish one bit.

'In the Name of Peace'

E. C. Smith of Berkeley, Calif., in a letter to The Saturday Evening Post says:

"... During our own Civil War, when England was so actively aiding the South, just suppose if there had been a U. N., would they have been able to vote to divide us in order to effect a 'truce' and set a parallel for 'North' and 'South' as in Korea?"

Makes one tremble to think what can be done in the name of peace.

Top Business

This country at last seems to have a real chance of getting a decent Federal tax system or approximately one.

For nearly two months the House Ways and Means Committee has been taking testimony looking to such an end. And Chairman Dan Reed says what he has learned is "shocking."

Present laws, and the regulations they have spawned, are reeking of confusion, unfairness, loopholes and red tape.

The objective is a set of tax laws of simpler design which will produce the money in an equitable manner at a smaller cost of collection.

Congressional committees and the Eisenhower administration both are bending to this purpose.

One of the aims is to revise the tax laws so they impose the least possible handicap on the growth of the country. Present laws operate largely in the reverse direction.

In writing new tax laws, the tax drafters are up against the troublesome question of balancing the budget. But whatever may be lost in revenue by providing some taxpayers with the breaks long due them can be balanced by catching up with those who for too long have escaped their just levies.

Also, some tax rates are due to expire, automatically, next year. The answer to that is less spending.

It is estimated that nearly 2,800 languages are spoken in the world today.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

THE REAL NEWS NEWSREEL

There should be a Fred Allen show entitled "When Will TV Discover What's My Line?"

Fred is one of the country's greatest wits, but his new video program, "Judge for Yourself," again picks him for a job any routine master of ceremonies could do.

It hides not only Allen's talents but the talents of everybody concerned. Fred looked so uncomfortable and unlike himself that we thought at first he was being starred in "Masquerade Party."

Here is a program that is not a panel, not a jacket, not a comedy, and not a talent-show hour, and which is still supposed to be ALL FOUR.

Allen is a notoriously glum looker, and "Judge for Yourself" the panel looked even glumier, suggesting the need of a new title: "STUDIO GLEM" or "BREAK THE BLANK STARE."

It seems to us that any competent showman could find the right routine for this great entertainer, yet TV continues to try him on everything up to "Omnibus," "Victory at Sea" and "Treasury Men in Action."

He is terrific in a vent comedy program involving sketches and characterizations, as he proved 60 years in radio's "Allen's Alley."

Why this "Allen's Dilemma" tendency?

Now we have the king-sized host! Bernard M. Baruch just passed his 83rd birthday. He is America's "Mister Wisdom" and the country is holding him for the long pull, confident that he is a good investment at 83 and will go to 100 and even 100½.

The Mayor of Gotham has named August 31 to September 6 Rodgers & Hammerstein Week, and nobody in show business deserves it more.

We look for quite a celebration with Mr. Rodgers being crowned Mister Lyrics and Mr. Hammerstein unveiled as "King Hit-Parade."

We look for a parade which will include a decorated float of their business office (Fort Knox) and one showing the Discovery of Gold in Oklahoma, not to mention Siam.

We think there should be a program at City Hall in which the boys will demonstrate a little magic, illustrating the way to change a couple of pianos into a mint.

The Mayor should give them the keys to the sub-treasury, although it would mean mere cigarette money to them, and make a speech pledging the voters a continuance of Rodgers & Hammerstein music.

It can win him re-election, even if the

Robert S. Allen Reports

AEC Changes Will Permit Business To Enter Field

Washington — The crucial Atomic Energy Commission is headed for far-reaching changes.

They were authorized in an untried bill that Congress approved in the closing hours of the recent session.

Under this legislation, the Commission can establish a number of new divisions, and increase the pay of the scientists and experts who direct them up to $16,000 a year.

A major purpose of the reorganization is to prepare for the entrance of private business into the field of atomic power.

"This will be one of the most controversial issues of the next session of Congress. The opening skirmishes of this big fight took place in the final weeks of the last session. This fall, the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, under the chairmanship of Representative W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.), will conduct hearings on the matter."

Lewis Strauss, new chairman of the Atomic Commission, strongly favors permitting utilities to develop atomic power. So does Joseph Campbell, latest member of the Commission, whose appointment was recommended by Strauss. The two men have long been close personal and banking friends.

In the reorganization bill Strauss laid before the Joint Committee, an "undetermined number of divisions" could have been set up, each with a $16,000-a-year director. Strauss urged that rate of pay on the ground it is necessary to get and retain high-calibered personnel in competition with industry. There was no challenge of the salary boost, and it was approved unanimously.

Drawing The Line — But committee members vigorously objected to giving the AEC a free hand in creating new divisions.

The 1946 Atomic Energy Act established four divisions: Research, Engineering, Production, and Military Operations. Strauss explained it was proposed to revamp the latter into a "Division of Military Application" which, under a military director, would be responsible for the manufacture of atomic weapons. Strauss also outlined certain changes contemplated in the Research Division.

One of these is the removal of a major restriction requiring that atomic research be conducted in government facilities. Strauss contended this limitation should be removed in order to widen the scope and number of research projects.

"We need all the atomic research and development we can get," he told the Committee. "We should take advantage of the magnificent private plants and laboratories that are available for this purpose. The time has come to do that."

Representative Chet Holifield (D-Calif.), who is strenuously against business entering the field of atomic power, insisted on holding down the number of AEC divisions.

"You've given us no valid reason for letting you have carte blanche on this," Holifield said. "I'm willing to approve whatever is legitimately needed, but no more than that. We don't want you people to start building empires."

Holifield's stand won Committee approval and a ceiling was put on the number of AEC divisions.

Note: Barring a hitch, the Atomic Commission will shortly announce that the reactor installed in the atomic submarine is producing electric power. The reactor, known technically as STR, submarine thermal reactor, turned "critical" some time back. It was designed by the Argonne National Laboratories, in cooperation with Westinghouse Electric Co. The reactor uses ordinary water for cooling purposes.

Sad Problem — Less than five per cent of the 3,300 American PWs the Reds admitted holding in Korea are "progressives."

That's the unannounced estimate of U. S. commanders based on the study of reports from repatriated captives and information from intelligence sources. "Behind-me-my lines."

U. S. authorities are now convinced this tragic human problem is greatly exaggerated, due chiefly to excited stories related by the understandably outraged and over-caught releases. Their widely-headlined accounts created certain, erroneous impressions that officials warn could prove harmful.

One serious danger is the use the Communists are trying to make of this situation.

Word has been received the Reds are pressuring so-called "progressives" to remain behind the Iron Curtain by citing U. S. press accounts of disciplinary action and personal vilification against them if they return home.

The Pentagon has no intention of cracking down on those PW. They are being treated no differently than the others.

If specific charges are made against any of them, each case will be considered on its own merits and by proper military authorities. So important is this moderate and routine procedure considered that a policy statement is being prepared on it for the guidance of the three armed services. That was strongly recommended by the Psychological Warfare Board in the Pentagon.

Among Arabian gifts to European medieval society were the art of fortification, knightly tournaments and the troubadour.

The refining of sugar is believed to have developed in Persia.

George Sokolsky Says...

Now In Full Motion Chinese Imperialism With India Already Within China Orbit

In terms of manpower, Communist China has produced a fighting army of 4,000,000 men, a part of which, at least, is modernly armed.

This army has managed to defeat 17 nations, including the United States and Great Britain, in the Korean War.

While it is true that such experts as Generals Douglas MacArthur, Matthew Ridgway, James Van Fleet and Mark Clark have stated publicly that they could have defeated this army but for political intervention, the fact is that they did not defeat it. Mao Tse-tung, in the eyes of the Asiatics, can claim the credit that he is the first Oriental since 1905 when Japan defeated Russia, who held a coalition of Westerners at bay. This single historic assertion makes Soviet China the leading power in the Asiatic world, particularly as it happens to be true.

Politically, Soviet China has made tremendous strides. It has, with the assistance of Soviet Russia, managed to separate Great Britain from the United States on a basic issue, namely, the Asiatic program. More significantly, for the first time in the history of the United States, Canada, under the leadership of Lester B. Pearson, who in his younger years was influenced by the Institute of Pacific Relations, is not standing with the United States.

Furthermore, Mao Tse-tung has so scared Nehru of India that he has practically reduced him to an agent of Chinese policy in the Western world. Nehru cannot altogether be blamed for being frightened. He sees no force that is free to save Burma, Indo-China and Thailand from chin-quest by Soviet China.

India could be conquered from these areas and from Tibet, Assam, Nepal and Bhutan unless the United States, assisted by Great Britain, were to occupy India and use it as a base against Soviet China. That alternative, from Nehru's standpoint, would be just as bad.

While these are hypothetical questions to us, to Nehru and India they are important realities. Since the beginning of the Korean War, Nehru has lived in terror that Soviet China would defeat the so-called United Nations forces. With that twist which is so characteristic of Orientals, instead of supporting the United States, Nehru first adopted the position of a neutral, then became a broker for the Korean War, Nehru has lived in terror that Soviet China would defeat the so-called United Nations forces. With that twist which is so characteristic of Orientals, instead of supporting the United States, Nehru first adopted the position of a neutral, then became a broker for the Korean War, Nehru has lived in terror that Soviet China would defeat the so-called United Nations forces.

History is made of such shifts in the relations among nations. From the beginning of the Korean War, this column has been calling attention, sometimes boringly so, to the dangers of permitting Soviet China to win this war and to become a world power. While some of our statesmen—most of them—were bogged down in European politics, Russia with historic prescience devoted itself to Asia.

Russia's reasoning was that no matter what happened in Europe, geography, manpower and natural resources made the East of Asia the center of the earth in the second half of the 20th century. It accepted as inevitable that China would ultimately explode into motion. Russia's objective was to keep China moving southward, otherwise such a force as has been let loose there would encroach upon Russian territories. Every aid was given to Mao Tse-tung to achieve this objective.

This movement began in 1919. I witnessed its early stages from 1919 to 1931 intimately. I was associated with the Student Movement in China in 1919 which was its first shock effect. I know personally and closely most of the Chinese and many of the Russians involved in the earliest stages of this revolution. Since 1919, I have written probably millions of words about it but the West rejected an accurate picture because it preferred a romantic one.

The explosive force of Chinese imperialism is now in full motion. For the first time since the Emperor Chien Lung (1736-95), China is now expanding to every part of Asia into which the Chinese cultural influence has ever spread, but this will never satisfy Mao Tse-tung who will seek to incorporate into the Chinese orbit all the lands of East Asia, including India.

Today, India must be regarded as already within the Chinese orbit. Nothing can save the Hindu and Buddhist world except the strongest action to save that area from the frightened Nehru. It is a question not of the independence of India, but whether that country is part of the Communist Chinese world or the democratic Christian West.

You're Telling Me —by William Ritt

"The Washington Glide" is a new dance designed to depict President Eisenhower's golf game. Presumably it's for people in the high eighties who wish they were in the seventies.

A golf dance sounds rough. Imagine spiking the shoes instead of the punch.

Naturally "The Washington Glide" is done to swing music. That's after the approach.

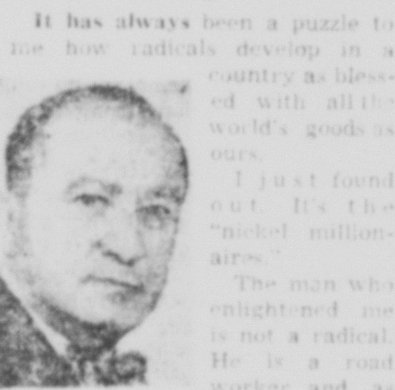

It's "The Washington Glide" with all the better clubs now, generally speaking.

One difference between this dance and golf is, you don't tell all your friends about what you did wrong.

The trouble is, if you got confused you never know which wood you're lost in.

Also, who's caddyng for whom?

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

It has always been a puzzle to me how radicals develop in a country as blessed with all the world's goods as ours.

I just found out. It's the "nickel millionaires."

The man who enlightened me is not a radical. He is a road worker and as he was talking to me, he had his truck which he owns parked across the way from my place and he was leaning on his shovel.

He owns his home and a half-acre of land. He sends his children to school and he has a mighty nice wife.

But he has been flirting with the idea of becoming a radical for quite a while all on account of the "nickel millionaires."

The way it came about was on account of a new zoning law passed a few months ago. According to the new regulation, no one is permitted to build a home on less than two acres.

My road worker friend was just about to buy another acre next to his property, but the fellow who had promised to sell it to him backed out of the deal after the new zoning law was passed. It would have broken up his adjoining land into less than two acres.

So the would-be buyer got mad. It's getting to be just like Russia, he said. It isn't the "people" any more who have the say-so, but the "nickel millionaires."

I asked him what he meant by nickel-millionaires. "Well," he replied, "a nickel-millionaire is a fellow who thinks he owns the town, but who really doesn't own anything."

"Oh, you mean a fourflusher," I said.

"Yes, a fourflusher," he agreed.

"People who think they are too good to have any neighbors close by. People who haven't any money but put on big airs."

"Me, I have a few hundred dollars. But that ain't good enough for those fellows. They don't want a man who works with his pick and shovel anywhere near them. They buy big cars on the installment plan when they couldn't even buy a jalopy for cash."

"They run up big bills in the stores, and when they owe so much that they can't pay, they sell their places in a hurry and skip town.

"We are all supposed to be born equal. The hell we are."

I told him that being born equal means only that we are all born with one nose, one mouth, two arms, two legs, two eyes and ears and have the same political rights.

But it does not mean, I said, that all of us are born with the same physical and mental capacities. Being born equal does not mean that we are all going through life as equals. Each man has the OPPORTUNITY to get ahead but each man does not take equal advantage of his opportunities.

I asked him whether he slept well at night.

"You bet I do," he said. "I am asleep the minute I hit the hay. Why wouldn't I, after working with a pick and shovel eight hours a day?"

"Is that all you work?" I queried. "Ask your nickel-millionaires some time how many hours they work and WORRY every day. Ask the next one you see how long it takes HIM to fall asleep at night."

"Maybe you've got something there," he replied and went back to work with his pick and shovel.

A jeweler in Wisconsin who had read too many detective stories suffered a disconcerting experience recently. On three occasions a thief had broken into his store and gotten away scot-free with valuable merchandise. The next time vowed the jeweler, he would catch the marauder himself, and the devil take the police. So he rigged up a camera, designed so the thief would snap his own picture in the act of robbing the store. As bait, he put a tray of cheap costume jewelry, an imitation watch, and two one-dollar bills in front of the camera. Alas, the thief, on his next visit, ignored the cheap jewelry, the watch, the $2.00—and disappeared in the night with the jeweler's $150 camera.

Major Share Of March Of Dimes Here Now Goes For Treatment

One Polio Death Is Recorded

Sixty-nine per cent of the $13,017.91 collected in the last polio campaign in Monroe County has gone for treatment of children and adults afflicted by the disease.

That was the figure revealed yesterday in a break-down of polio fund figures and expenditures by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The figures disclosed are on a nationwide basis. Reduced to local terms it showed that:

Treatment of adults and children will cost an estimated $8,982.36 of the local fund.

Another 12 per cent, $1,562.15 of the local fund, is earmarked for chapter and medical department services, State office operations, administration and the vital job of public information.

The remaining 19 per cent, $2,982.36 locally, is for one of the Foundation's most rewarding expenditures: Research and professional education.

Still at the local level, the score in Monroe County so far in 1953 stands at: One death caused by polio early in the year, one mild polio case recently and one "suspicion case" in which polio was suspected but could not be pinned down definitely as the cause of the ailment. The local polio chapter paid the bills for all three. As a safety measure, suspicion cases are often referred to St. Luke's Hospital so that all emergency equipment is available immediately if needed, and the victim is isolated.

On the national scale the figures were staggering. The foundation last year spent almost $25 million for treatment of 80,000 people stricken with polio in 1952 or earlier. The report, the Foundation's 15th, was mostly optimistic. It traced the three important steps toward the finding of a positive preventive for polio.

First "roadblock" was removed by discovery that there were exactly three different types of polio virus and that although clinical symptoms of all three types are identical, infection by one type doesn't result in immunity to the other two. Any preventive would have to protect against all three types.

Second "roadblock" removed was by discovery that gamma globulin, a human blood derivative, seemed to prevent polio through the disease-fighting antibodies it contains and that it could be given through injections.

Third vital discovery was how to grow all three types of virus in test tubes containing bits of non-nervous tissue. It meant that enough sufficiently pure virus could be given for experimental studies.

Less cheerful was the news that last year's total of polio cases topped the previous year's record and pruned deeply into the National Foundation's bank account deep enough to leave the foundation with unpaid bills at year's end for the fifth year in a row.

Extent of the epidemic was reflected in the report that 47 states were forced to call for help from the foundation in coping with polio epidemics in 1952.

Nineteen states suffered their worst outbreaks of polio in history. The national total of 57,628 cases was more than double the annual average for the previous five years. Pennsylvania was not among the 10 hardest-hit states.

The counter-attack was made by the foundation with shipments of 2,530 respirators, 292 rocking beds, 541 hot pack machines; emergency recruitment of 1,563 nurses, 128 physical therapists, 16 medical social workers, 26 resident physicians.

The report also showed the foundation awarded its 3,000th scholarship for professional training. Of 5,000 qualified physical therapists in the nation, it was pointed out, almost 2,000 were trained with foundation aid.

The annual report included for the first time since detailed statistics on polio patients.

They showed 77.9 per cent of all patients admitted for acute care were under 20; about 22.1 per cent were 20 or older. Relatively few people hit by polio were over 40.

Cars Damaged In Collision

Delaware Water Gap: Damages totalled $180 when two cars collided on Route 611 in the borough at 9:10 a.m. yesterday.

Both cars were going toward Stroudsburg. The one in the lead was operated by Victor Rizzo, Astoria, L. I., N. Y. Following behind him was the car of Michael P. Durkin, 24, Philadelphia, according to Police Chief Fred Decker.

The chief said as the cars approached the stop light here Durkin's car struck the rear of Rizzo's. Damages were $30 to Rizzo's auto and the rest to Durkin's.

Lutherans Break Ground For New Parish House

Ground-breaking ceremonies were held at rear of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, where a new parish house and education building will be constructed.

The ceremony followed regular services conducted by Rev. P. N. Wolsen.

After prayer and Scripture reading, Dr. Wolsen was handed a shovel by Paul Edinger, general contractor. The pastor turned up the first soil.

The shovel then was passed to Kathryn L. Mikels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mikels, Stroudsburg. Miss Mikels is a great-great-granddaughter of Valentine Kautz, charter member of the church who helped build the present structure.

Soil was next turned by Mrs. Floyd Fetherman, primary department superintendent, and each member of the vestry.

The ceremony ended with the choir and congregation joining in a stanza of "Now Thank We All Our God," followed by the Lord's Prayer and benediction.

Edinger said he expects to begin work at once.

Lions' Steers Are Succored By Milkman

Cattle, cattle everywhere, and not a drop to drink. That was the situation last night when 75 head of horses, bulls, calves and steer rolled into the Stroudsburg Speedway grounds to set up for the Lions-sponsored rodeo which starts Wednesday night.

There was no way to water the thirsty stock. Local Lions began gnawing at the problem, came up with a solution.

They contacted Robert Erwin, of Penn-Dell Dairy, East Stroudsburg. He agreed to lend the rodeo group a thousand-gallon motorized tank.

The local men filled the tank with a hose, trundled it back to the speedway. The stock got their drinks, tanks to Erwin.

Monroe GI Has Narrow Escape

A 20-year-old Kunkletown serviceman narrowly escaped death in an auto crash which took the lives of three other soldiers Saturday near Donora, Pa.

The Monroe County serviceman, Pvt. Kenneth Martin, was taken to Charlevoix-Monessen Hospital, Donora for treatment after the car in which he was riding crashed into a tank truck.

Martin and the other four passengers of the car were on their way home from Camp Atterbury, Ind., on furlough. Martin was kept under observation by the hospital overnight, then was released yesterday for return to the military camp.

Dead in the accident were Donald Stidham, 20 and Franklin Polo, also 20, both of Tamaqua and Walter Porambo, 20 of Lansford. Stidham, the driver of the car, and Polo died at the scene of the accident.

Home Nuptial, Miss Snyder Is Performed

Miss Josephine Irene Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Snyder of Cherry Valley, in Stroudsburg, RD1, became the bride of Charles Harris Porter, of Georgetown, Mass., son of Mrs. Harriett A. Porter and the late Charles H. E. Porter, of Arlington, Mass.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed at the home of the bride Wednesday, August 19, at 12:30 p.m. by Rev. Frank H. Blatt, pastor of Zion Evangelical Reformed Church, in Stroudsburg. There were attractive floral decorations of miniature gladioli and snow-on-the-mountain in milk glass containers.

Miss Felix Crider, of Tampa, Fla., sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor. Best man was Robert Snyder, of Mt. Bethel, brother of the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony, the sacrament of marriage of the Christian Community Church was celebrated by Rev. Frederick H. Bargevin, pastor of the Christian Community Church, in New York City. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fetter, of New Hope, Pa., were witnesses of the sacrament.

The bride was attired in a beautiful blue silk shantung dress with a corsage of white and pink sweetheart roses. The bride's mother wore a teal blue shantung dress and red sweetheart corsage. # Greene-Dreher Community Fair Will Open On Thursday

Three Day Exhibition In 37th Year

Newfoundland — Northeastern agricultural exhibition, the Greene-Dreher Community Fair, opens here Thursday for a three-day stand.

This year's event will mark the 37th time local residents have brought their produce, livestock and handwork to vie for cash premiums and to have them looked over by the thousands who annually visit the fair.

A crew of volunteer workers began this morning to put the finishing touches to the job of readying the grounds and exhibit halls for the influx of exhibitors who will register their "finest" beginning at 9 a. m. Thursday.

Clayton Northrup, superintendent of exhibits, and his crew will be on hand until 6 p. m. Thursday to accept last minute entries and assign exhibit space for the expected 1500 exhibitors.

A complete carnival is in place, ready to grind out thrills aplenty for "kids" from six to 60. Refreshment stands are all set to dispense the usual large quantities of midway refreshments and committees, charged with operating other forms of diversion for the fairgoers, have readied their concessions for "action."

Entertainment features of the fair are headlined this year by the appearance of the "Musical Minors," a teen-age Dixieland jazz band, on Friday night. Veterans before the television cameras of the national networks, the "Minors" recently signed an 11-week contract with the Ken Murray show, to be followed by a longer stint on a Pacific Coast hookup. This will be the young musicians' final appearance in the East before leaving for Cleveland and the West Coast on Labor Day.

The Greene-Dreher-Sterling sen- band will provide music Thursday beginning at 7:30 p. m. with the junior band, made up of 40 members of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades at the local school, scheduled to entertain on Saturday afternoon.

Saturday night feature will be "Pop Joe and Mountaineers," a western-hillbilly band, whose musical talents are combined with comedy routines to provide a highly-entertaining program.

The annual meeting of the Greene-Dreher Old Folks associates, a group of area octogenarians, will be held on Saturday. The "old folks," as well as all couples who have been married 50 years or more, will be guests of the association at dinner.

Judging of exhibits will begin on Friday morning with farm crops, canned goods, baked goods, flowers and needlework going through the rating process. Livestock will be paraded before the judges for appraisal in the afternoon.

Dinner will be served in the school cafeteria from noon to 2 p. m. Saturday and supper will be available from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. Farm crops and baked goods will be sold at auction in the high school auditorium on Saturday at 4 p. m.

Fireman Killed, Hurt

Harrisburg (P) — A wall collapsed in a general alarm fire last night killing one city fireman and injuring eleven others.

The flames of undetermined origin swept through the warehouse of the Max Cohen junk yard in up-town Harrisburg, back of the State Capitol buildings.

An estimate of the damage has yet to be made.

The victim of the fire was Donald Henry, 26, a member of the Kelly Fire Company. Henry and those injured were trapped when the wall of the burning warehouse gave way. Some were burned, others suffered bone fractures.

Injured reported some of the injured were standing in a railroad gondola car at the rear of the burning brick and cinder block building when the wall collapsed outward and fell on them.

Chief Earl Swartz said firemen arriving at the burning warehouse found all doors locked. He said the firemen battered down doors to get at the fire while others raised ladders to fight the blaze from the top.

The spectacular fire attracted thousands of persons to the scene. There was a sudden roar as spectators saw the side wall cave in, toppling firemen and ladders into the building. Firemen formed rescue squads, and pulled most of them out of danger.

Diversion Terraces Are Badly Needed Throughout Monroe County Farm Area

By A. Norman Dietrick, SCS Technician

Perhaps the most needed, and certainly one of the most beneficial conservation practices in Monroe County is diversion terraces.

A diversion differs from cropland terraces in that the diversion is always kept in grass, with a sod filter strip above to protect it from being killed in with soil. Since it is a sod filter strip, a slightly steeper grade may be used, but usually not over one percent is considered safe.

Diversion are needed in most sloping fields where the slope exceeds about 400 feet, where there is concentration of surface water, or where serious erosion or gullies are evident.

They are used in conjunction with strip cropping in many cases. Their function is to intercept all excess water and carry it safely around the slope on a gentle grade. This is sometimes called "walking the water around the slope" since its velocity is greatly reduced.

In addition to the valuable top soil saved by the proper use of diversions, one should not overlook the saving of expensive fertilizers. Most of the plant nutrients are very soluble and are thus more subject to loss through erosion than the soil itself.

Construction of diversions is nearing completion of the Raymond Alieger farm on Chipperfield Drive and on the Augustus Kuhnbecker farm near Kunkletown. Finished diversions may be seen on the Arlington Martin farm at Effort.

Fine Signs Constitution Referendum Change Bill

Harrisburg, (P) — A stroke of Gov. John S. Fine's pen put up to Pennsylvania voters for decision the question of revising the Commonwealth's 79-year-old Constitution.

The governor signed a bill Saturday placing this question on the ballot at the Nov. 3 election for a state-wide referendum.

"Do you favor the preparation by a convention of a new constitution, subject to ratification by a vote of the people?"

Fine said in a statement that the bill was a "feeble" step to ward constitution revision and was "a watered down version" of his recommendation to carry out a Republican party platform.

"Political leaders," he said, "must learn that political promises should be kept, unless circumstances have materially altered after they were made."

The Governor, in his recommendation to the Legislature urged election of delegates this fall to a constitution convention to meet next year at Harrisburg, but the Senate struck out everything except the referendum.

Fine filed $333,000 from the total appropriations as passed by the Legislature. The cuts included $164,000 for the Department of Forests and Waters for the purchase of forest land; $150,000 from the Justice Department; $15,000 from the State Capitol Cafeteria fund and $14,000 from Common Pleas Court fund.

The Justice Department cut, the Governor explained, was due to the fact that Morgana Industrial School was retained in the Department of Welfare in legislation transferring administration of the state's prisons to the Justice Department.

Another new law signed by the Governor authorizes local school

Reeders Turns Analomink Into Victim

Three Circuit Blows Feature Winning Attack

Reeders — Home runs by John Bonser, Larry Butz and June Possinger highlighted a 16-hit attack that carried Reeders to an easy 16-3 victory over Analomink here on the winning contingent's.

The host aggregation pushed at least one run into paydirt in each of the first seven innings while piling up the huge winning margin over the visiting Analomink club.

Analomink evened the count briefly in the top of the second inning, but Reeders scored twice in the bottom of the second and three times in the same portion of the third frame to take any doubt out of the final score.

Pitching

John Bonser and George Martin divided the Reeders mound chores and limited Analomink to five hits. A triple by Paul Strunk was the only extra base blow in the losing cause.

Analomink also committed five errors to help the Reeders cause, but the home team was guilty of four blunders in the field in its own behalf.

No fewer than five members of the winning club accounted for three safeties.

Bob Beehler was the only Analomink batter capable of hanging out more than one hit.

Dodgers Sweep Fifth Doubleheader Of Season From Pirates To Increase Lead Over Field

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Bouncing bats of "Duke" Snider and Gil Hodges produced 11 runs and temperamental Russ Meyer equalled his output of 13 victories last season as the Brooklyn Dodgers swept a doubleheader 10-4 and 9-7 yesterday from the cellar-dwelling Pittsburgh Pirates.

Phillies Take Over Third

Philadelphia (AP)—First baseman Earl Torgerson accounted for three runs with a homer and single yesterday as the Philadelphia Phillies downed the New York Giants 6-3. The win gave the Phillies a clean sweep of the four-game series and ran the Giants' losing streak to seven games, their longest of the season.

Advance

The Phillies edged into third place in the National League pennant race, a half game in front of the St. Louis Cardinals, who lost a single game yesterday to the Cincinnati Redlegs, 5-3.

Torgerson banged in two runs in the sixth inning with his 10th homer of the year after Richie Ashburn had led off with a single. The win went to Curt Simmons, who went all the way to rack up his 11th victory against as many defeats.

New York, (AP)—Vic Raschi hurled a six-hit shutout yesterday as the American League leading New York Yankees blanked the Philadelphia Athletics 4-0 but saw their first-place margin over Chicago cut to eight and one-half games as the White Sox swept a doubleheader from Detroit.

"Dank" Bauer hit his ninth home run off loser Harry Byrd.

Raschi's own teammates threatened to break up his shutout bid committing two errors in the ninth inning that helped fill the bases with two out. The veteran right-hander, however, was equal to the occasion and disposed of pinchhitter Elmer Valo on a fly to Irv Noren to end the game.

A Guide For Gardeners & Home-Makers

Insecticides Weed Spray Crab Grass Killer J. N. CANFIELD &amp; SON 315 Main St. Ph. 1396 Sbg.	The Green Thumb Best Time To Make Lawn Is Now; Leaf Scorch Is Not Alarming; Iris Care The Home Lawn: Right now is the best time of the year to reno- vate your lawn, or put a new lawn in. Grass seed germinates best in the cool months, and growth is favored by the damp nights and fall rains that will soon be with us. If your lawn is in poor shape, full of weeds and bumps, don't make the mistake of trying to get a healthy turf merely by sowing a lot of grass seed on top, hoping it will take hold. Before grass seed will germinate, it's got to have a fairly good seedbed, otherwise the seed rests on the ground, only to be eaten by the birds, or he blown away. Where the turf is thin and you have lots of weeds, it's best to turn the sod under, then cultivate the soil and re-seed. This may seem like a more expensive way to get a lawn started, but it's by far better than sprinkling grass seed on a hard surface and ex- pecting it to grow. After the soil is worked up and loose, sprinkle on some 5-10-5 fertilizer at the rate of 35 lbs. for each 1,000 sq. ft. If you like clover (and we do), and want to encourage it, add 35 lbs. of hydrated lime or 50 lbs. of ground limestone. If your lawn hasn't received any lime in the past five or six years, it would be a good idea to apply some lime anyway. Where lawns are about one- third good grass, you won't have to plow it up, if the soil is fairly fertile. Renovation can be ac- complished by means of top- dressing with plant food. In shady spots this may not work, although feeding is very impor- tant, more so in the shady lawn.	CUSTOM COMBINING BULLDOZING Stanley Nevil R.D., Stroudsburg Ph. 1419-J-3
Concrete and Cinder Building Blocks Chimney Blocks Sand—Cement—Gravel C. M. Werkheiser Ph. 2091R1 Stroudsburg, R. D. 3	FREE: Your lawn is the best welcome mat you can have. Take good care of it because it enhances the value of your home. If you'd like a bulletin on Mak- ing a Lawn, send me a self-ad- dressed, stamped envelope. This guide tells how to feed, water and care for your lawn so it will be a carpet of green. Scorched Trees: If the leaves of your maples, etc., have that scorched look, don't be alarmed, because it's nothing more than the result of hot, dry summer sun and winds, followed by a rainy Spring. Some trees are more susceptible to "sun-burn" than others, and some shed their leaves sooner. This scorching and early leaf-falling can often be traced back to the wet Spring we had which produced an abundance of leaves. As dry weather ap- proaches, the trees cannot sup- port all the leaves, so some wither, and some drop. This con- dition is nothing to worry about. GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A. D. of East Stroudsburg: "My choice iris have lots of borers in them. How can I kill the borers?" Dig plants up, separate them, cutting out borers. Dust the rootstock with DDT and soapy water, or ferbam dust alone. DDT kills the borers; ferbam checks any rot setting in after borers have entered the rhizomes. Next Spring, about first week of May, spray iris plants with DDT, with second application a week later, a third a week later.	Beautify Your Floors Rent Our Sander-Edger Sander ————— $4 Edger ————— 2 (For 24 Hours) MONTGOMERY WARD 744 Main St., Stroudsburg

Crowe Will Not Attend GOP Parley

Meadville, Pa., (AP) — Top Republican leaders of Pennsylvania, some from opposing factions, have been invited to a weekend gathering in Crawford and Erie counties next month.

The host is Sen. Rowland B. Mahany of Titusville, the majority leader in the State Senate.

At least one of the Commonwealth's 32 GOP Senators, Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe, Stroudsburg, will not be present.

Sen. Crowe indicated last night that he had been invited to attend the get-together, but had been forced to "decline due to the distance between Monroe County and the meeting place."

The meeting, Sen. Crowe added, is of "no political significance."

Mahany says he has invited Republican state senators for a "social gathering" on Thursday, Sept. 17 at the Riverside Hotel in nearby Cambridge Springs. The next day the group will move to Erie for a boat ride on Lake Erie. Friday night there will be a dinner at the Erie Yacht Club. On Saturday the weekend will wind up with a dinner at the Erie Club.

Mahany said he expects about 20 GOP state senators to attend. He says he also has extended invitations to Gov. John S. Fine, U. S. Senators Edward Martin and James H. Duff, State Treasurer Charles Harber and Auditor General Weldon Heyburn.

The Crawford County Legislator said there will be no public meetings of the group, adding that any discussion of politics will be "in small huddles" and off the record. But Mahany did not rule out political parleys dealing with next year's state election when a governor must be elected to succeed Fine.

There has been considerable speculation that Duff, who has broken with Fine despite the fact he backed him for governor, may enter the gubernatorial race. Duff hasn't indicated his plans.

The Meadville Tribune says Mahany, himself, "has been mentioned as a potential candidate."

To this report, Mahany declared:

"It is an honor, of course, to be even mentioned for such an office. However, any reports or speculation along this line are very premature, indeed."

High School Horses To Be Featured In Police Rodeo

The "High School Horses" feature of the Pennsylvania State Police Exhibition will be appreciated in proportion to your knowledge of horses and their capabilities.

That the event is graceful to behold and obviously difficult to perform, will be apparent.

The highly skilled movements of the horses will be particularly appreciated by horsemen, as they view group movements never seen outside of great horse shows.

This is but one of the many outstanding acts included in the 1953 Pennsylvania State Police Exhibition to be staged at the Harman-Geist Stadium, Hazleton, Pa., at 8 p. m., on September 15 and 16.

The entire proceeds will go into the Pennsylvania State Police Pension fund which is maintained for the payment of pensions to superannuated members, funeral expenses of deceased members, and to provide artificial eyes and limbs for members requiring them.

Pocono Playhouse Will Offer 'Gigi' As Latest Attraction Of Season

Mountainhome — The poignant comedy, "Gigi," has been chosen as this week's attraction at Pocono Playhouse. Stars of the production, under supervision of Richard Bender, will be Betty Bendyk and Peter Donat.

Three members of the Broadway cast will be on hand to recreate roles from the original production, staged by Gilbert Miller. These are Phoebe Mackay, Margaret Bannerman and Doris Patston.

Most recently, Miss Mackay appeared on New York stages in the Judith Anderson-Guthrie McClintic production of Clemence Dane's "Come of Age" and the Maurice Evans version of "Man and Superman." She has appeared extensively on television. Her theatrical background traces to London's "Old Vic" Shakespearean companies and Granville Barker productions of the Bard's plays.

Miss Bannerman has appeared in more than one hundred plays in this country, London, Australia and New Zealand. Among her most noted performances were roles in "Our Betters," "The Sin of Madame Claudel" and "Trelawney of the Wells."

Doris Patston has appeared in such productions as "Flare Path" and "Frederika." She has spent fourteen summer seasons with the St. Louis Municipal Opera Co. with stock experience in Louisville, Ind.

Sloan O'Dwyer Will Return

Paris, (AP) — Mrs. Sloan Simpson O'Dwyer, recently granted a Mexican civil divorce from ex-Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York, said yesterday she will leave for Mexico Sept. 16.

She will sail on the S. S. America for the United States Wednesday.

The 36-year-old former model, who denied she has any current romantic plans, said she will go to Mexico "to testify to the church."

The O'Dwyers, who are Roman Catholics, have appealed to the church for an annulment of their marriage. O'Dwyer recently said that, as a Catholic, he does not recognize the civil divorce decree. The O'Dwyers said early this year that the Catholic church had granted them permission for a temporary separation.
